Trump: Might keep others from listening in on calls

AP/PTI
Washington, 14 February

US President Donald Trump (pictured) has said that he might end the long-running practice of letting other administration officials listen in on presidential calls with foreign leaders. That's after Trump's impeachment was triggered by his July phone call with the president of Ukraine. "I may end the practice entirely," Trump told Geraldo Rivera in a radio interview. Records experts said that was a bad idea, for multiple reasons. Trump also offered new insights into his feelings about being impeached, saying it made him think about the "dark" days when

Richard Nixon resigned over the Watergate scandal before his own likely impeachment. "Well, it's a terrible thing and, you know, I think of Nixon more than anybody else and what that dark period was in our country and the whole thing with the tapes and the horror show," Trump said. "It was dark and went on for a long time, and I watched it." He said he often passes portraits of past Presidents that hang in the White House. "The portrait of Richard Nixon — I don't know. It's a little bit of a different feeling than I get from looking at the other portraits of Presidents," he said. "I got impeached for no reason whatsoever — totally partisan." Trump was impeached over his decision to hold up military aid to Ukraine. House Democrats allege that Trump abused his power by asking Ukraine to announce investigations of political rival Joe Biden and other Democrats in exchange for releasing the aid. They also charged Trump with obstruction of Congress for refusing to turn over documents and provide witnesses. The impeachment stemmed from Trump's July 25 call with Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskiy. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo and White House staffers listened in the call. As is standard practice in any administration, the staffers, working in the secure, soundproof Situation Room in the West Wing basement, chronicled the conversation. National Security Council personnel then prepared a memorandum, which serves as an official record. Robert O'Brien, Trump's national security adviser, said the president can conduct whatever phone calls he wants without other people being on the line.

Unlike sanitizer thief, Boeing leaves air show empty-handed

AGENCIES
New Delhi/Singapore, 14 February

The giants of aviation left the Singapore Airshow with little to brag about, but someone ended up with one of the hottest deals in town: A couple of boxes of hand sanitizers. Alarm over the novel coronavirus outbreak has led to panic-buying of unlikely hot commodities, from toilet paper and instant noodles to soap and even condoms, which people have been using as makeshift finger protectors — safe texts and all that. Bosses at one US aerospace company were befuddled when they arrived at their corporate booth on Thursday morning to find it had been liberated of hand sanitizers. Everything else — aircraft models, TV sets and branded coat pins — was left untouched. The priorities at Asia's flagship aviation event were a far cry from normal. Many companies didn't even show up because of concern over the virus, which has infected more than 60,000 people and killed 1,380, primarily in China. Attendance was thin and the executives who did attend headed for the door soon after finishing their meetings. The organisers advised attendees

CORONAVIRUS TOLL REACHES 1,380

Passengers onboard MS Westerdam, the cruise ship that spent two weeks at sea after being turned away by five countries. The ship finally docked at Sihanoukville in Cambodia. The death toll in China was 1,380 after adjustments for double-counting that had appeared to inflate the tally. Total cases topped 63,000 to avoid hand contact, leading to awkward greetings and elbow bumps. No deals Boeing, which is bedeviled with the 737 MAX grounding and failed to sign any orders at all in January, didn't announce any deals. Neither did Airbus, beyond its helicopter unit selling some trainer aircraft to the Thai military. A highlight of the show was PNG Air ordering three ATR 42-600S aircraft.

Last year's Paris Air Show heralded 610 commitments for new planes between Boeing and Airbus alone. A year earlier in Farnborough there were almost 1,000 orders worth $141 billion. By Thursday afternoon, the third day of the Singapore show, many company booths were empty. Some had closed shop after the first day. At least one firm said executives who came to the event from overseas will have to go through self-quarantine upon their return.

Vietnam looks to India to ease virus-hit export

Vietnam is seeking to boost its farm produce exports to India to alleviate the impact of the virus on the country's trade with China, its largest trading partner. It has asked India to reduce trade barriers on its exports, such as black pepper and cashew nuts, the Ministry of Industry and Trade said on Friday. "Vietnam and India have room to significantly increase bilateral trade," the ministry said in a statement, adding that the two countries target to raise trade to $15 billion from $11.3 billion last year. ## DGCA extends screening of Japan, S Korea visitors

DGCA asked airports and airlines that passengers arriving in flights from Japan and South Korea must be screened once they step out of aerobridges in order to prevent the spread of novel coronavirus infection. Till date, only those arriving from China, Hong Kong, Thailand and Singapore were being screened for possible exposure. PTI

Erdogan raises Kashmir issue in Pakistan Parliament

Notwithstanding India's objection, Turkey President Recep Tayyip Erdogan on Friday once again raked up the Kashmir issue, vowing that Ankara will support Pakistan's stand as it is a matter of concern to both the countries. Addressing a joint session of Pakistan's Parliament Erdogan said Turkey will back Pakistan in its efforts to come out of the Grey List of the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) which is meeting this week in Paris. "I also want to emphasise that we will give support to Pakistan which is subject to political pressure in the FATF meetings," he said on the upcoming meeting of the anti-terror financing watchdog. "Today, the issue of Kashmir is as close to us as it is to you (Pakistanis)." PTI
